Welcome Back

Your weekly Tuesday Transition Tip

I would like to personally welcome you back to what promises to be a topsy-turvy year. Some of you may already be in your classrooms; others may be working from home in your kitchen/bedroom/den/deck offices. Wherever you are, we're here with Tuesday's Transition Tips, supporting you this year as you guide your transitioning students and families on their individual paths.

A couple of things as we gear up for the 2020-2021 school year:

- If you have a new colleague in your building, please make sure you share Tuesday's Tips with them. We want to reach all new staff, so have them subscribe by emailing myself at kevans@washtenawisd.org
- For "authentic transition assessments" check out the "Transition Assessment Library" on the washtenawisd.org website.
- Lastly, for one on one instruction on postsecondary transition planning please do not hesitate in reaching out to me during my office hours listed to the left side of this document.
